HOME AT LAST IS HENRY HORSELY, A HOMELESS MAN

Anywhere He Hung His Hat
Was Home to Him on This Earth.

Cared Only for Creature Comfort and Was Resigned

RELATIVES ARE IN ENGLAND.

Henry Horsely has gone home. He died at the Illinois Central hospital this morning at 12:15 o'clock from injuries sustained when the scaffolding of the Cumberland river bridge of the Illinois Central collapsed on June 8.

When he entered the hospital on a stretcher, bruised from head to foot and the lower part of his body paralyzed, he was contented smoking his short clay pipe, and in answer to inquiries he replied: "Anywhere Hangs me 'at, is 'ome, sweet 'ome to me."

That was the extent of the information he vouchsafed, save that his mother resides somewhere in England.

His first concern on being picked up was for a smoke, and his first sur-reptitious request on being placed in bed, slyly whispered to the attending surgeon under shelter of the extended back of his big, hairy hand, was "Is there a drop o' whisky hit the place?"

His splendid physique kept him alive long after the average man would have died.

Little is known about the life of Horsely as he declined to talk about his life or relatives, even after being informed that death was a question of only a few days. He stated that England was his home, but he came to America when 15 years old and had heard nothing from his relatives in over 20 years, and did not know their address. Yesterday while irrational at periods he stated that Horsely was not his real name, but later repudiated it.

His body was taken to the morgue of Nance & Rogers this morning, where it will be held until relatives are located or the funeral arrangements completed.

Apoxydine Kills Penn.

Stricken with apoplexy, Shadrack B. Penn, a prominent politician of Ballard county, and city attorney of Bandana, died suddenly here at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the house of Sallie Sands, 833 Washington street. He was 68 years old.

When Penn dropped on the bed the Sands woman ran into the yard screaming, and before a physician could be called Penn had died. An inquest held at 10 o'clock this morning by Acting Coroner Charles W. Emery revealed the cause of his death.

According to his son, Charles, Mr. Penn was in the best of health and had not been heard to complain. He left the home of his daughter, Mrs. Bonny Hook at Kevil, where he lived, about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon presumably for Bandana. Instead he came to Paducah and was seen walking along Washington street about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Going to the home of Sallie Sands he is said to have reeled and fallen over dead on the bed without warning. Medical aid came too late. The body was removed to the undertaking parlors of Matti, Eifinger & Roth on South Third street and relatives were notified. They arrived this morning, taking the body to Kevil following the inquest.

Mr. Penn was born in Todd county in 1842 and for many years had resided in Ballard county. He was a prosperous farmer and a widely known lawyer and was city attorney at Bandana. He was very active in politics and familiarly known as "Boo" Penn. Mr. Penn had been married three times, his last wife having died about three years ago. He had resided with his daughter since her death.

He leaves two sons, Messrs. Robert and Charles Penn, and one daughter, Mrs. Bonny Hook. He leaves one brother, Honey Penn, of Fort Smith, Ark. Messrs. Clark, Richard, Roscoe and Tom Penn, of this city, are nephews.

The funeral will be held at 5 o'clock this afternoon and burial will be in the Terrell private burying ground near Kevil.

Two More Entries.

Two more cities may enter the Kitty league for the second half of the season. McLeansboro and Harrisburg, Ill., have applied for admission, and it is the general opinion that they will be accepted.

Brandenburg Said He Forged Check to Provide Necessities For Wife, Who Was Once an Eddyville Belle

Author of Famous Forged
Cleveland Letter, Which Deceived New York Times,
Returns to Tombs.

New York, July 14.—(Special)—Broughton Brandenburg, the writer, who has been in hot water several times before, is at his old tricks. He was arrested last night for forging the name of a local magazine editor to a check for $50. He got a friend at the Press club to cash the check for him and when the exposure came he pleaded for mercy, saying he had been deceiving his wife as to his income and needed money to pay vital expenses. He was locked up in the police station and photographed for the "Rogues" gallery. He was held today and sent to the Tombs, where he spent several months last year.

Brandenburg, who is the son of a minister in Ohio, once was accused of kidnapping his little stepson, Shepard Cabanne, from St. Louis, and later was charged with forging Grover Cleveland's name to an alleged article which he sold, after Cleveland died.

His present wife before her first marriage was Miss Minnie Leonard, of Eddyville, sister Mrs. Wheeler Campbell, formerly of Paducah, and now of Louisville.

Cutting at Sedalia.
Sedalia, Ky., July 14. (Special)—As the result of a quarrel between Will Morris, a young farmer of this section, and Clayton Bowden, a cropper, Morris is lying at his home in critical condition from a stab wound, and Bowden is out on bond, charged with cutting with intent to kill. His preliminary trial is set for July 27. They quarreled over the crops and Bowden stabbed Morris with a pocket knife. Both men are married.

PACKERS WILL BE HELD PERSONALLY

FEDERAL GRAND JURY WILL IN-DICT INDIVIDUALS, NO CORPORATIONS.

Chicago, July 14.—"Don't indict a mere alias, or corporation, when an individual is responsible. Follow the trail of real offenders," was Judge Landis' statement today to the grand jury to investigate the meat packers' trust. It carried out the plan to force the indictment of individuals instead of corporations.

Government attorneys are pleased with the court's instructions. The investigation will be thorough. A hundred lawyers for the government and trust heard the charge read.

Assistant United States District Attorney General Kenyon stated that he will remain to aid the prosecution in the investigation. The jury was drawn and after instructions was dismissed until tomorrow. The court cautioned the jurors against influence of the argument heard that law enforcement will unsettle business. No legitimate business needs the government acquiescence in the commission of crime."

Million Dollar Fire At Portland Oregon

Portland, Ore., July 14.—Seven blocks in business and apartment buildings were burned early today. It is estimated it cost a million dollar damage. Reports of loss of life are confirmed. The cause is unknown and originated in the old exposition building and spread to a row of apartment houses, the "Multnomah" Athletic club and automobile row. The Studebaker Auto company was first destroyed. Two hundred horses in the exposition building burned and men, sleeping

Hopkinsville and Paducah are playing the second game of the series this afternoon at League park. Gwinnett and Harris and Overton will be the battery for Paducah, while McNonigle or Deems and Guerres will try hard to take the remaining games of the series. Tomorrow will be ladies' day, and it is expected that there will be a large crowd of the fair sex on hand.

LONDON MURDER MYSTERY EQUALS COMO LAKE CASE

American Dentist Hacks Wife to Pieces and Runs Away
With Stenographer.

Disappearance of Famous Singer.

BODY CAN'T BE IDENTIFIED.

London, July 14.—Two coffins were taken today to the home of Dr. Hawley Crippen, the American dentist, on Hilldrop Crescent, indicating that another corpse was found in the house, besides the one unearthed in the cellar last night. Police claim it is that of Mrs. Crippen, nee Belle Elmore, the noted singer.

All persons are barred from the premises and the police are veiling their movements. Crippen is charged with murder. Crippen is said to have fled with another woman, representing herself as his wife. None of the neighbors have seen Mrs. Crippen since February, when Crippen announced she had gone to America.

Shortly afterward her death was announced through the papers.

The dead woman, if really Mrs. Crippen, was famous. She was born in Philadelphia and the daughter of a noble Polish family. Her mother and father, it is understood, hid her identity from the girl. Later she discovered it and went to Europe to seek the estate. Police have notified authorities of the world to seek for Crippen and Ethel Cara Leneve, his stenographer.

Neighbors became suspicious and notified the police when they discovered no death had occurred in the place as the advertisement stated. Scotland Yard men questioned Crippen, who then was living with the second Mrs. Crippen. The doctor answered questions and continued to live in the house.

Saturday he disappeared. The police searched the premises, and nearly tore down the garden house.

A letter, which Mrs. Crippen's secretary received, was obviously forged. The letter was received in February from her, saying she was going to America.

Police say Dr. Crippen practiced in various parts of the United States as a Munyon representative. It is certain he and Miss Leneve left Saturday. He told the police on their last visit the story that his wife was in America was untrue. He said they quarreled. He invented the story so neighbors would not know she left him. Two caskets were taken to the house to facilitate the handling of the frightfully mutilated body. Positive identification is impossible.

Dr. Pepper examined the body and declared the body unrecognizable before decomposition, on account of blows. It was hacked and jabbed as though with a knife. Officials of the Music Hall Ladies Guild were astonished when Mrs. Crippen left without an explanation. All knew there was trouble in the family over the stenographer. They wrote to Mr. Stephens in California. He replied that she had never been there. The wife requested the dismission of the stenographer, but was refused.

London police are confident that before night they will arrest Crippen. Evening News declares it furnished the clew to his whereabouts. According to the News the porter of Raven house, Kinsway, where Crippen had an office, states that Crippen passed him today into the office. He left toward Boston. Police are on the trail.

Texas Population.

Washington, July 14.—The census bureau announced the population of the following counties in Texas: Atascosa, 10,504; Matagorda, 13,594; Newton, 10,850; Sabine, 8,582.

HEAVY DEATH ROLL ON SINKING SHIP

BOILERS EXPLODE AFTER COL-LISION AND NEARLY ALL
ON BOARD GO DOWN.

Odessa, July 14.—Official reports today place the death roll at 106 as the result of the collision Saturday night between ships Lovki and Wampa near Kherson, the entrance to the Black sea. The boilers of the Lovki exploded, and the vessel sank with nearly all on board.

Another Warrant Issued in Pool Road Murder Mystery Case and New Clew Urged by Lawyers

Race Horse Man at Murphysboro, Ill., Charged With Killing the Unknown Red
Headed Youth April 10.

Yet another warrant has been issued on an entirely new hypothesis in the Pool road murder mystery case, and word was received by The Evening Sun today from Mr. H. V. Keebler that he has found the man he wants in jail at Murphysboro, Ill., where he is held on a charge of robbery.

The man is John Hunt, sometimes known as Wilson, of Metropolis, Ill., a race track follower. A warrant for his arrest was issued several days ago by County Judge Alben Barkley upon the affidavit of Keebler, who said he saw and talked with the murdered boy and Hunt a few days before the murder. Both talked about race horses, and while Hunt was washing his linen near the bakeshop factory, the murdered boy sat on a log and asked Keebler if he had ever been to Metropolis, and if he knew John Hunt.

Keebler replied that he had several years ago, but probably would not know him now. He said the youth looked toward the form by the water side and chuckled, but Keebler thought nothing of it, until after the murder and he identified the body as that of the youth with whom he was talking.

Hunt, he reports, is the fellow he saw with the murdered boy that day he speaks of, and he will attempt to secure possession of Hunt from the Murphysboro authorities.

Keebler makes affidavit to the identity of the man with great particularity. He is a carpenter and has all along insisted that he talked with the murdered boy and would know his companion if he set eyes on him. Several weeks ago on the information that Hunt knew something of the case, The Evening Sun communicated with him, but received the brief reply that Hunt knew nothing. He was then following races in Illinois.

Attorney David Browning, who represented the boys arrested when Mrs. Thompson identified the body as that of her son Luther; and who now is representing Tom Farrin, who confessed to the murder, it is said, and then denied his confession, is active in running down this clew, and says he is confident, now, that he will not only establish the innocence of Farrin and Guy Dean, but bring the proper party to trial for the crime.

The identity of the murdered youth is not concerning him, except incidentally, he says, though he believes that will be established.

Following the clew, outlined in The Evening Sun several days ago, Evansville detectives made inquiries concerning the dead boy. They thought he might have been a red headed race track follower who worked in a barber shop in Evansville awhile, before coming down the river prior to the killing. The fact that the murdered boy is claimed by Keebler to have talked about racing, and his companion was a race track man, adds color to the Evansville theory.

Other Witnesses.
Much hinges on the identification of the prisoner by Abe Beauregard and Henry Dunlap, colored, witnesses, who testified that they saw the red-headed boy and a low built, heavy set companion out near the place of the murder on more than one day before the body was found. They stated positively at the pre-

Fiscal Court Monday

For the purpose of opening bids and awarding the contracts for the construction of wooden bridges over Clark's river over several sites in the county, a special session of the fiscal court will be held next Monday. The old iron bridge is in good condition, and the spans will be used to replace wooden bridges over several creeks in the county.

BRIDGE ENGINEER BACK AT METROPOLIS TODAY

C. R. Fickes, one of the Burlington engineers, returned yesterday to Metropolis and, it is understood, will soon start the work on the incline and bridge approach. He came across the river yesterday, securing further data to present before the United States board of engineers when they meet at St. Louis to hear the protests of people on the Illinois side of the Ohio against the proposed length of the bridge span.

TO SUSPEND ALL RATE INCREASES TILL GIVEN TIME

Interstate Commerce Commission Announces Its Policy.

Report That Southern Roads
Make Advance.

ALL ARE EFFECTIVE AT ONCE.

Washington, July 14.—The interstate commerce commission announced its intention to suspend all tariff making in general and important freight rate advances, pending investigation of the reasonableness of advances. It is expected the suspension in each case will be 120 days from effective date named in the tariffs. The commission intends by subsequent orders to provide on making effective at same date all advances finally allowed. The decision affects rates postponed after the conference of railroad presidents and the president.

This action established the milestone of the industrial history of the country. For the first time the commission made use of the power to suspend rates given it by the new railroad law. It affects practically every railroad system in the country, except those of the southeast. It means the suspension of 11,900 tariffs.

New Orleans, July 14.—Reports here say that southern and southwestern railroads will advance freight rates. It is said when Commissioner of Labor Neil arbitrated the differences between the railroads and employees it was agreed the roads would advance rates, having granted higher wages.

ANOTHER TOLL LINE FOR PADUCAH HOME COMPANY

The Paducah Home Telephone company is constructing another toll line from Paducah to Murray via Benton. When completed it will enable the company to give better service. Manager S. L. Pake has a large force of laborers and linemen at work, and is rushing the line to completion.

FUNERAL OF THE RIEKE INFANT THIS AFTERNOON.

Accompanied by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rieke, and Mrs. James P. Smith and Dr. D. G. Merrill, the body of Robert Matchen Rieke, who died at Montego, Tenn., yesterday, arrived here at 1:20 o'clock this afternoon and was taken to the residence, Eighteenth street and Kentucky avenue, where the funeral will be held at 5 o'clock this afternoon. The Rev. H. W. Burwell, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will officiate. Burial will be in Oak Grove cemetery.

Breaks Jail at Wingo
A telephone message from the jailer at Wingo, Ky., came to Chief of Police Singery this morning, asking him to look out for Ralph Hendon and Roy Mannings, who broke jail there last night. They were being held on charges of false swearing and bootlegging.

ALL OFFERINGS SOLD BY ASSOCIATION TODAY

What was considered the best sale of the season was made this morning at the western district warehouse when the entire offering of 225 hogsheads of tobacco, owned by the Planters' Protective association, was sold. The sale was conducted by W. M. Farmer, local salesman, and M. M. Tucker, warehouseman. The prices were: Leaf, 8½ to 13½ cents; lugs, 6 to 9 cents. It was a high top market to pick from and many local and foreign buyers were on hand. The last sale, in which the association intends to dispose of the entire crop, will be held two weeks hence. The association has established a record this year for the number of large sales and the rapid disposition of the crop.

FRANKFORT JAILER REFUSES TO LET NEGROES MEET.

Governor Willson and Mayor Polsgrove Were to Address Them.

Frankfort, Ky., July 14.—Governor Willson and Mayor Polsgrove and 200 negro citizens were refused the use of the court house last night by Jailer Mace Lucas, its custodian, for a public meeting to be held under the auspices of the district grand lodge of Odd Fellows (colored) in Kentucky. Governor Willson and Mayor Polsgrove were on the program to deliver addresses of welcome to the visiting delegates, and the speeches were scheduled to be made at the newly remodeled court house.

When Governor Willson and Mayor Polsgrove drove up in a carriage they found the court house dark, and delegates standing outside. They requested admittance, Jailer Lucas said to Governor Willson:

"Governor, if you enter the court house for this speech making, you will do it against my protest, and you will have to batter down the doors."

Seeing that it was useless to try to persuade Jailer Lucas to let them have the court house Governor Willson and Mayor Polsgrove went to a colored A. M. E. church, where they addressed the delegates.

Governor Willson and Mayor Polsgrove were inclined to take their rebuff good-naturedly.

THE GREAT NORTH COUNTRY.
Those Indians who made the first canoe of birch bark long ago, were our greatest benefactors. The children of these Indians know the canoe and they know how to use it, and if you go to Temagami, Ontario, this summer they will paddle your canoe in their own superb way. Students who camp in summer along the Temagami lakes are able to do two years' work in one. Finest of fishing and hunting. Easy of access, by the Grand Trunk Railway System. ### KENTUCKY ROADS.

Has 57,137 Miles of Public Roads Only 9,486 Improved.

According to a pamphlet issued by the secretary of agriculture, Kentucky has 57,137 miles of public roads. Of this number, 1,408 miles are surfaced with gravel and 8,078 with stone, making in all, 9,486 miles of improved roads. Many of these have been built and maintained by turnpike companies, while others have been constructed, by counties from funds raised on bond issues. It will be seen that 16 per cent of the roads have been improved. By comparing the total road mileage with the area of the state, it appears that there was 1.4 miles of public road to every square mile area. A comparison of mileage with population shows that there was one mile of road to every 27 inhabitants, and one mile of improved road to every 265 inhabitants.

made a wild toss, and Floyd scored.

In the sixth the batters went down quietly.

Cox was first up in the seventh and drove a beauty to right.

It was a fly and Murray killed a hit by running against the fence, but he dropped the ball. Overton pulled off a neat sacrifice. Payne followed at bat and was safe on a juggling of a grounder by Smith. Woodring fouled several and was given a pass, filling the bases. Floyd struck out, and the best Manager Angemeier could do was to ground to Mercer, who forced out Floyd at second. In the eighth Block got a blazing grounder through short, but Anderson, Lockhart and Cox were easy outs, and the utility man died on base.

After great expectations the Indians died on the sacks in the ninth.

Overton was first up and banged out a hit through short.

Payne struck out, but Cranor dropped the ball and retired the runner at first, while Overton was advanced to second.

Woodring responded with a next sacrifice, putting the little catcher on base. Floyd fouled several and then struck out, ending the game.

Baseball Talk.

Block played a good game at second base yesterday. In the first inning he juggled the ball once, but made up for it in the remainder of the game by pretty work. In the second he made a neat stop of a hard chance between first and second. Incidentally he rapped out two good singles.

Manager Angemeier pulled off several sensational running catches yesterday. He got them by hard runs either back to the fence or close in to the infield.

Flanagan made the prettiest kind of running catch in the fifth inning off Woodring's bat.

Some thought he dropped the ball, but he tossed it backwards after catching it.

Both umpires, Lucas and Bulger, worked yesterday. Lucas was behind the bat while Bulger umpired on the bases.

Anderson was robbed of a two bagger in the sixth by a pretty catch by Lyons after a long, hard run.

Little Merce was given applause every time he stepped to the plate. Besides playing a good game on second, his hit in the first inning won the game for the visitors. If he keeps up his standard of playing demonstrated yesterday it looks like he will remain.

Murray made a hard try to get Cox's fly in the seventh. He got his hands on the sphere but collided with the fence and dropped the ball.

Washington, July 14.—The Interstate commerce commission determined to suspend the recent general advances made by the railways in freight tariffs. The advanced rates were suspended, for the most part, were those recently filed by the Western Trunk Line association and by carriers in the eastern classification territory, although some are those of individual roads in other territories.

By arrangement with the president and the commission, the railways agreed to supplement the original advanced tariffs, effective about July 1, with tariffs to become effective August 1, for the purpose of enabling the commission to examine its authority under the new railroad law.

Now that the policy of the commission has been determined, it will be automatically applicable, in a sense to the tariffs as fall within its purview. In the multiplicity of freight tariffs filed with the commission—averaging six or seven hundred per day—the commission will not exercise its authority to suspend except in certain instances, as it is manifest that the proposed new tariffs might do serious injustice to the shippers. Authority will be exercised only when extraordinary conditions, in the view of the commission, prevail.

Daily Thought.

Whoever, amid the sons of reason, valor, liberty and virtue, displays distinguished merit, is a noble of nature's own creating.—Thomson.

It is serious when the horse and rider both are blind.

A lot of folks have come over on the Lusitania, who would not have been allowed on the Mayflower.

A deaf and dumb negro was arrested at Newark, O., in connection with the lynching of the anti-saloon detective. Some blind officials up there also ought to be punished.

Hughes may be the apple of Roosevelt's political eye, but when he is listening to the ground, the collector of the port of New York seems to be the Loeb of his political ear.

At any rate, we know that in his letter to Madriz, of Nicaragua, the kaiser was acting under the direction of the German foreign office and not just shooting off his mouth at random.

Two youths stealing a ride in a car of brick, awoke inside the walls of a penitentiary, to which the car was consigned. Those, who never, stole a ride on a train in their lives will be quick to perceive such is the ultimate destination of boys, who "go bumming." Those of us, who have done so ourselves, can appreciate the shock it gave the boys when they found out where they were.

Never question the motives of a virtuous act. Remember the roots of the whitest lily are imbedded in the muck. The sheriff of Licking county, Ohio, resigned, more or less voluntarily. He is the first sheriff, whose prisoner was lynched, so far as we know, that ever had the decency to retire from the office he disgraced, even when it was intimated that his retirement would be wholly in accord with prevailing public sentiment.

DR. WILEY AND THE KISS.
What's in a kiss?
We have a right to know.

The mere alliteration made by Dr. Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry, that "kissing is worse than cussing," is not sufficient. The scriptures say, "not that which goeth into the mouth defileth man; but that which cometh out of the mouth."

And then, so indiscriminate condemnation is unfair to the ancient and honorable practice. Dr. Wiley is not a social expert; it is not the insincerity and impossibility of enforcing its bond as the seal of mutual obligation to which he objects. He is a chemist and may speak with authority only as to such matters as come within the scope of his own department of science. He condemned the use of formaldehyde in milk, blending compounds in straight whisky and benzene of soda in preservatives; what element of mischief is there in kissing to which he objects and which we may have removed without detracting from the pleasant effect of the indulgence?

UNION RESCUE MISSION

After a week's stay at the Union Rescue mission I feel disposed to tell the public something of the work as I have observed it. Especially since I solicited donations one day, and found the people almost wholly ignorant of the real work done here. The first night I was here two young men in search of work, came in during a stormy rain. As they were without means they were given meals and lodging, and in the morning some clean shirts. These men were talked to about their spiritual condition, and after prayer promised to lead different lives. Both of them obtained good employment at once and are doing well. One other young man has been cared for over night and is seeking work. There have been two young mothers with children here seeking help. A home has been found for one child, and the mother a place to work. The other mother will be given work as soon as a home for her month-old baby is found. One woman was cared for over Sunday, and work procured for her. Three girls have found shelter and work. People have come for clothes, in one instance a man came and asked for pants that he might go to church. Mrs. Childs had to say "come again," as no donations of that kind had been sent in lately. The hospital charity ward has been visited almost every day, and fruit and flowers carried. The jail and almshouse and many homes in distress have all been visited, and good literature left. And between times these good people have been answering the telephone calls of the housekeepers in the city, needing girls for nurses or cooks. No one on the outside can possibly know of the amount of bruised, fallen and helpless.

MRS. J. A. LEE.

Surely and waited in vain for a policeman to arrest the party.

WHAT AVIATION COSTS.

The death roll due to aviation accidents in recent years follows:

1908.

September 17.—Lieut. Thomas E. Selfridge, U. S. A., killed in fall with Orville Wright, near Washington.

1909.

September 7.—Ross 1. Ena, Italian, killed in Rome in machine of his own invention.

September 7.—E. Lefebvre, killed in Wright machine at Jussey-Sur-Orge, France.

September 22.—Capt. Louis F. Feber, killed at Boulogne, France.

December 6.—Fernandez Antonio, Spaniard, killed at Nice; falling 1,000 feet after motor exploded.

1910.

January 4.—Leon Delagrange, killed at Bordeaux, France.

April 2.—Lebelon Herbert, instantly killed; falling on rocks at San Sebastian, Spain.

May 13.—Chevrette Michelin, killed at Lyons, France.

June 17.—Eugene Speyer, killed at San Francisco.

June 18.—Robl, killed at Stettin, Germany.

July 11.—Charles Wachter, killed at Rheims, in Antoinette monoplane. Baroness De La Roche was almost killed by a fall in her Voisin biplane at the Rheims meeting on July 8.

July 12.—Capt. Charles Rolls, killed at Bournemouth, Eng., when his aeroplane collapsed and fell 100 feet.

July 13.—Oscar Erbsloeh and four companions killed in bursting of their dirigible balloon at Leichlingen, Prussia.

liminary hearing that Farrin and Dean were neither one the companion of the dead boy. If they identify Hunt as the companion, attorneys for the boys under arrest feel that they will have taken a long step in corroboration of Keebler's opinion.

Attorney Browning said before he took the case, he did not believe Tom Farrin's confession amounted to anything. If Farrin and Dean killed the boy, he said, the two women, at whose house they were staying, knew all about the particulars. Farrin, he contends, was losing his hold on his sweetheart and in a spirit of bravado he told her he killed a man to get money for her. She was trying to get rid of him, and told what he said. The clothes of the dead boy have never been found, and the murderer or murderers cut the trade mark off the dead youth's neck tie, something a couple of green boys would hardly be expected to do.

A CRIMINAL STORY.

If Hunt is the man and the Evansville authorities said the red-headed boy robbed the barbershop where he was working and left the city in company with a low built, heavy set, dark haired man, and came down the river. Hunt has done time in Joliet and Eddyville, in the former for a murder committed at Metropolis. He stabbed his victim that time in the back of the neck with a knife. It has been learned that in addition to the blows from a club, according to Attorney Browning, the victim of the Pool road murder had a knife stab in the neck, and the mark of the blade showed that the boy was lying down when he was stabbed, as the wielder of the knife must have been standing at his side, the gash extending across the neck, instead of up and down, as it would have been had the blow been delivered from directly behind, while the victim was on his feet.

HUNT IN JAIL.

Hunt has been in jail at Murphysboro, Ill., since July 6, when he was arrested on the charge of robbery.

Mr. Keebler said that he saw him in the jail and recognized him as the man he saw with the dead boy. Shortly after the murder Hunt went to Mt. Vernon, Ind., and Keebler learned that Hunt disposed of a pair of shoes there that answered the description of the shoes worn by the murdered boy.

The state's attorney is out of Murphysboro at present, but an effort will be made to have the Illinois officials turn Hunt over to the Paducah officers, and bring him back to Kentucky by securing regulation papers if necessary.

Attorney David Browning, who represents Guy Dean, now in the county jail awaiting the action of the grand jury for the murder of the boy sent Keebler to Murphysboro to identify Hunt. Before going to Murphysboro, Keebler went to Cincinnati, Covington and Latonia in search of Hunt.

Hunt is out on a parole from the state penitentiary at Joliet, Ill., and has also served a term in the Eddyville penitentiary. About ten years ago Hunt killed Jim Daniels. He was a young man then, and was not punished severely.

The hospital charity ward has been visited almost every day, and fruit and flowers carried. The jail and almshouse and many homes in distress have all been visited, and good literature left. And between times these good people have been answering the telephone calls of the housekeepers in the city, needing girls for nurses or cooks. No one on the outside can possibly know of the amount of work being done. This is undoubtedly a labor of love as the people are either negligent or indifferent. The mission is in debt and as the collections get smaller instead of increasing, the work must suffer more and more. I take this means of acquainting the people of it, and do so without any solicitation, believing that if the good people of Paducah only knew they would gladly come to the rescue. I believe every home owner in the city (and many who do not own homes), could, without any sacrifice, telephone their grocer to deliver as much as a 25c package at the missions. Also many people could give bundles of clothing, which Mr. Chiles would be glad to call for and distribute. This is not a work that many people enjoy, and yet many good people are willing to help. Brother Chiles and wife are willing to do this work for you if you will make it possible. The religious services are good. A man and wife have found Christ this week, three have been reclaimed and quite a number admonished and prayed with. I am persuaded that none of us will regret the cups of cold water given when we see the Master face to face, but we will rather wish we had done a thousand fold more. Don't lay this paper aside and think that so many will respond that you will wait until "next time," for many others will do that too, but "phone Bro. Chiles and help him in this real time of need. God has promised that, "He that giveth to the poor lendeth to the Lord, and that which he hath given He will repay again." This is a good bank note, try it.

Sincerely in the interest of earth's bruised, fallen and helpless.

MRS. J. A. LEE.

sued for kissing a pretty patient as she sat in his operating chair. He might enlighten us. He had seen inside her mouth and probably had cleaned her teeth. If he kissed her first, she had a right to accept the kiss as an evidence of approval and resist his charge for dental work, on the ground that she needed none. If he rushed to it heedlessly, he did so at his own peril, and the chief chemist of the nation is under no obligation to worry over the penalities nature imposes on the receivers of stolen kisses.

How can one judge these things? And, if his judgment be dethroned, as is often pleaded in defense of the accusation of unlawful trespass and theft under the spell of the moon, how is one to be protected against a momentary, irresistible impulse? All men are susceptible. There is no antitoxin and they cannot all be confined in institutions for the restraint of the suicidally inclined? Must we muzzle all the pretty women?

Tell us, Dr. Wiley. It is up to you. For some men would rather risk the unknown physical ill that lingers latent behind the Cupid's bow of a woman's mouth, than suffer the slow torment of passion's fever for attainable but unrealized bliss.

Police Officer, of Mayfield, accompanied the excursion from that point to Louisville to keep order. It is the custom at Mayfield to take an officer along on excursions to keep order, but they do not always take coffee.

In the Second district the Democratic candidate for the appellate bench is Settle. The Republican candidate probably will be Jolly. Two good names for candidates and judges. Sorry they both can't be elected.

INSPECTION OF BANKS OF STATES

WILL BE MADE BY SECRETARY OF STATE BRUNER.

Says Present Law Gives Him Ample Authority to Take Such Step.

ASKS BANKS TO ASSIST HIM.

Frankfort, Ky., July 14.—A state inspector of state banks is to be a fact in Kentucky if the plans of Dr.
Ben L. Bruner, secretary of state, are carried out. Dr. Bruner says the present laws give him full authority to inspect banks, and he is going to ask the banks of the state to join with him in having inspection. He will ask the banks to agree to pay for the inspection, and believes that a large majority of the state banks will agree to his proposition.

By obtaining state inspection the state banks can become eligible to be selected as depositories for the funds under the postal savings bank bill, and Dr. Bruner says he is confident that with the inspection he will establish and with the aid of the state banks he can have the state banks of Kentucky put in the same class as national banks, or state banks in states where inspection is done by law, so that they can receive deposits under the savings bank bill.

W. F. Ramey, bank clerk in the secretary of state's office, has just returned from Henshaw, where he went to look into the condition of affairs in connection with the Bank of Henshaw, which recently closed its doors. Mr. Ramey says that the bank

DOWN IN THE MINES

MINE INSPECTOR GIVES STATISTICS OF INTEREST.

Western District Makes an Excellent Showing—The Kentucky Output and Its Value.

According to the report of State Mine Inspector Norwood, the ten counties of the western district—Butler, Christian, Daviess, Henderson, Hopkins, McLean, Muhlenberg, Ohio, Union and Webster—produced more than one-half of the bituminous coal mined in 1909 in all Kentucky. The total amount mined was 10,296,145 tons, of which the western district produced 5,578,161 tons,

The total value of the output in the three Kentucky districts was $9,524,308, at the mines, an average of 94.16 cents per ton. The figures show a decrease of 5.41 cents, for all districts, compared with prices of 1908, with the average decrease in the western district of 7.82 cents; for the southeastern district, of 5.31 cents, and for the northeastern district, of 97 cents.

The figures show an increase in mining of 546,803 tons over the production of 1908, with the western district showing the greatest decrease in the amount, 582,000 tons, the increases all being in the southeastern and northeastern districts. But the western district shows the largest increase in the number of tons shipped outside the state, the percentage of shipments outside being 67.42 of the total output. In the western district, the counties making a close finish were Hopkins, with an output in 1909 of 1,847,189 tons, and Muhlenberg, with an output of 1,881,177.

There are thirty-three deaths in the mines in Kentucky in the last year. Of the thirty-three, twenty were caused by "falls of top," and the inspector rightly says that "the number of deaths by falls of top is altogether too great." He charges it mostly to an excessive use of powder in blasting, and he calls attention to the fact that, under the new laws, mine foremen can be appointed only after a strict examination. That is a good provision. In the meantime Kentucky ought to mine more coal and add thereby to the great wealth of the state.—Owensboro Messenger.

Korea produces about $1,350,000 worth of tobacco each year by primitive methods, which the Japanese are expected to improve.

Nearly every girl would want to elope if she could have a big church wedding, too.

EFFECT OF FATIGUE.

Results of Experiments Recently Made in Austrian Army.

Some interesting experiments were made recently by the Austrian military authorities with a view to testing the effect of the fatigue of a long march on the shooting of trained soldiers.

Fifty soldiers of over two years service undertook a march of sixty-five miles in eight hours, the return journey being against a strong head of wind. Before and after the march they fired ten rounds at a target representing a section of 26 men, in extended order, lying down, at 500 yards.

The experiment was repeated with a section of 42 non-commissioned officers of the school of musketry before and after a 23 hours' exercise in the field, during which 33 miles were covered. This section, chiefly marksmen, made 81 hits on 21 out of 26 figures after their return. The men, though much fatigued when firing their second series of shots, made nearly as good practice as when fresh before the starting.

These results are valuable as showing that the skill of seasoned soldiers who are at the same time first rate shots, does not degenerate much with fatigue.—Army and Navy Gazette.

Aged Woman is Initiated.

Edwards, Ind., July 13.—Mrs.

Cynthia Ross, 85 years old, was one of the three candidates initiated last Saturday night by Friendship Lodge, N. 698. Daughters of Rebekah. The others were Miss Lulu Clark and Mrs. Nellie Swin. District Deputy Grand Master McBride and several members of the lodge at Terre Haute attended. Following the ceremony a short talk was made by the aged initiate.

CHILD IS BALLY INJURED WHEN BINDER CATCHES HIM

Rockville, Ind., July 13.—Ronald Williams, the 4-year-old son of Mr.

and Mrs. T. E. Williams, was terribly injured this afternoon by being caught in the sickle of a binder. Both of the lad's legs were cut, and, although no bones were broken, 30 stitches were required to reduce the wounds. The boy was playing in the oats that his father was cutting and was not noticed until the binder was upon him. Physicians were summoned to attend the lad.

Probably Not.

Mutual Compliments.

At a certain church it is the pleasing custom at a marriage for the clergyman to kiss the bride after the ceremony. A young lady who was about to be married in the church did not relish the prospect and instructed her prospective husband when making arrangements to tell the clergyman that she did not wish him to kiss her. The bridegroom did as directed.

"Well, George," said the young lady when he appeared, "did you tell the clergyman that I did not wish him to kiss me?"

"Oh, yes."

"And what did he say?"

"He said that in that case he would charge only half the usual fee."—Tit-Bits.

CHAPTER III.

Colonel Moreau, and if I can be of any further service to yoh all in this dark hour of tribulation pray command me, sub. As an old soldier I beg of yoh to meet this calamity with the fortitude of a Christian gentleman," with which admirable and plausibl adoration the good colonel flourished his handkerchief and helped himself to a generous pinch of snuff.

"I thank you, Colonel Moreau, for all you have done," said young Randall stoutly, looking on the huddled thing at his feet. "You—you say you witnessed my father's death?"

"Not exactly, sub, foh he shot himself in his stateroom. However hard to bear, I think yoh should know who and what prompted his death. The scoundrel, sub, was the notorious Cameo Kirby, of whom, perhaps, yoh have heard."

Young Randall nodded dully, and Moreau, entering into the spirit of the tale, continued: "I foahed an acquaintance, sub, with yoh poh father when he came aboard at New Orleans. He confided to every one that he had sold his sugar crop foh ten thousand and had the cash with him, and he was in mighty high spirits because he was on his way back home to see his children. Poly gentleman! As delicately as I can I must state that he was not quite himself, and by that, sub, I mean that he had been imbibing a little too freely. I don't have to tell yoh, sub, that there are certain characters on all the big boats who keep a pretty sharp lookout foh gamblers with money who are in the condition yoh poh father, sub, was in tonight, and I expect there was more than one river gambler on board who would have liked to get his hands on Mr. Randall. But the one who got him was the sliest and cleverest of the lot, the Cameo Kirby whom I have mentioned. This rascal, sub, inveigled yoh poh father into a private stateroom, plied him with moh liquor and won from him not only all his money and personal effects—even including a miniature of yoh dead mother, sub—but also a deed to his entire plantation and all his slaves, everything which he owned. I was too late to save Mr. Randall, but I knew Kirby by repute, and I was so screamingly outraged by the whole affair that I denounced him foh the low scoundrel he was. Thereupon he drew on me, but I was the quicker and shot him down like a dog. They carried him ashore, sub, at the landing below this, and the river is cleaner foh his death."

"You have taken vengeance out of my hands," said young Randall unsteadily. "The coward and villain! For a stranger, sir, the attitude which

In view of this accepted understanding, Larkin Bunce had accordingly made no mention of the fact that a probable murder had been committed, and the passengers and steamship officials dismissing it as a gamblers' quarrel, which was none of their affair, no stigma or notoriety was attached to the good Colonel Moreau, who, claiming to be an old and valued friend of Mr. Randall, had gone to the latter's stateroom and brazenly assumed charge of the body. Bunce's laconic statement was too pitifully true, for the old planter had effectively ended his life.

Again referring to Colonel Moreau's happy faculty of doing all things well, it was quite characteristic that to complete his revenge against Cameo Kirby he now did not hesitate to assume charge of Mr. Randall's body, did not hesitate to meet the son of the man for whose death he had been directly and shamefully responsible, for young Tom Randall had ridden over to the Plaquemine landing in order to greet his father, while over at the old homestead all was bustle and excitement in honor of the master's homecoming.

Anxiously Tom Randall waited to see the joyful and well known figure of his father march down the gangplank, waited to catch a glimpse of the familiar and weather beaten green portmanteau which the planter always carried. The moments passed. Other and numerous passengers stepped ashore, to be eagerly welcomed and claimed by their own, but John Randall was not among them. A curious and seemingly pregnant bush had succeeded the landing of the freight, and off somewhere in the darkness a child whimpered shrilly. The boy's nerves were set on edge. Perhaps his father was having a farewell talk with the captain and would come dashing out at the last moment with all his old disregard for time and place. It was time the bell was clanging, the signal for backing away, for by now the landing of passengers and freight appeared to be terminated. And still no John Randall. The boy walked along the stringpiece until the Texas deck came the more prominently into view, the glow from the open windows of the port stateroom silhouetting the lean visaged pilot, absolute monarch of his realm, who now that an easy stretch of the river had been entered loafed about while his cub took the wheel.

"Hello, on board the Shotwell!" shouted young Randall, looking up at the pilothouse. "Is that you, Mr. Bixby? This is Tom Randall. Do you know if my father is on board? We were expecting him by your boat, sir."

For reply Mr. Bixby, usually the pattern of courtesy, offered a monosyllabic affirmative and turned from the window.

"But young Randall had no time to heed his quick resentment, for now, at last, his father had come ashore, borne on the shoulders of two roustabouts, while the captain and officers stood with bared heads and thankfully left the unwelcome task of explaining the tragedy to the amiable and willing Colonel Moreau.

"My boy," said the latter, now laying a fatherly hand on young Randall's heaving shoulder, "although I am a stranger to yoh, sub, I have ventured to assume temporary control of this terrible affair, foh I am a southern gentleman, as was Mr. Randall, and I feel bound to yoh all by the ties of sympathy and country. I was a witness, sub, to the events which preceded and prompted this outrage, and, although I am aware it is but poh satisfaction, still it is something to know that the scoundrel who was instrumental in causing yoh poh father's death has already paid foh it with his life. My name, sub, is ter from the evil reports which gossip had spread concerning him and to others who, in their righteous ignorance, considered all gamblers legitimate children of the devil his remarkable recovery would have been accepted merely as another proof that the evil one favors his own, that the mills of the gods grind slowly, that justice is blind and that a scoundrel is difficult to kill, together with many similar ancient and redoubtable maxims which ignorance and self righteousness love to distribute on every fitting occasion.

Among possessors of the last mentioned attribute Eugene Kirby was regarded as a black sheep who, religiously avoiding the whitewash brush, was deemed beyond redemption, for what man worthy of the name would have acted as had the last of the Kirbys? What if he had been but fifteen when his father died a bankrupt? What if he had been left an orphan, a pauper, with no immediate relative to care how he acted? Wasn't the heritage of an ancient and honorable name, the knowledge that some of the oldest and best blood in all the south flowed in his veins, enough to keep him straight? Most assuredly it was. There was absolutely no excuse for his drifting in with wild and dissolute companions, becoming a common river gambler and rendering notorious and obnoxious a name which had hitherto been the synonym for honor and integrity.

Kirby had been kept in ignorance of Mr. Randall's suicide, but when at length he became convalescent Larkin Bunce, barking back to the events of that memorable night, informed him, and the invalid, on his part, recounted the occurrences preceding Colonel Moreau's precipitation of the "honorable" combat.

"The news of Mr. Randall's death is a great shock," he added, greatly moved. "He was my father's friend, Bunce, and when the devil played havoc with our affairs he played it with the greatest of skill."

"Young Randall nodded dully, and Moreau, entering into the spirit of the tale, continued: "I foahed an acquaintance, sub, with yoh poh father when he came aboard at New Orleans. Such a Bore to Dress.

A belated traveler who was compelled to stay all night in a backwoods cabin down in the Little River country in Oklahoma says that soon after the frugal meal a tall, gaunt youth of 18 and an equally sallow and gaunt girl of 17, both barefooted, took their hats from wooden pegs in the well and prepared to go out, whereupon the mother, taking her pipe from between her teeth, said reprovingly: "Go 'long an' wash your feet, Levi; you and Looly, both! Hain't you 'shamed to go off to an evenin' party without washin' your feet?" They obeyed, but as Levi took the wash pan from the bench by the door he said with a grumble: "I'd 'bout as soon stay home from a party as to have to fix up for it."—New York Herald.

A few weeks ago, in a very nearby town, one of the most prominent merchants lost his entire stock of goods by fire. He was fully insured, he thought.

When time for settlement came however, he found the one company in which he had the biggest insurance, was insolvent, BROKE, and the loss wiped the merchant out of business.

EAT IN THE SHADE OF WISTARIA

SOMETHING ENTIRELY NEW IN GASTRONOMIC MYSTERIES.

Real Japanese Cafes Where the Delectable Dishes of Old Nippon Are Served.

NOVEL GOTHAM RESTAURANT

New York, July 14.—Honorable chicken is served under the shade of the wistaria to all honorable Americans, and also other delectable dishes from the fair land of Nippon, for know they that there is now a true Japanese restaurant in this city of New York.

There have been Japanese tea rooms for several years, but here is a whole house on a westside street devoted to the serving of dishes cooked under the direction of a chef who once served an ambassador from the mikado to the United States. There are concessions made to the American style here and there and the waitresses have the manner of those who have known the American lunchroom. The tearooms which have existed at bazaars and at Coney Island and such places have had as waiters maids in kimonos and small slippers, but it is not so at the sign of the wistaria.

New York is filled with men and women who are always seeking something new in gastronomic mysteries, and as soon as the fame of the cuisine Japanese spread many went to the latest foreign restaurant. Already the place has become a rendezvous for women shoppers, some of whom live in New York, while others are of the contingent which come tunnelwise from New Jersey or from the towns of Connecticut. For them Japanese luncheon has become a diversion like the matinee or the afternoon tea in the Broadway hotels.

There is something which particularly appeals to the feminine idea of decoration in the way this mid-day repast is prepared. Some of the women say it is "eute."

The luncheon is brought in on a large lacquered tray and the first impression made is that of splendor and quantity. There are bowls and teapots and dishes of all hues and nearly all kinds except plates. First to be considered is the Japanese chop suey, which is much like the Chinese compound of meat and bamboo and celery, with more of the peppery taste and less of fat. The Chinese like pork, while the Japanese do not look upon it with special favor. The Chinese employ butter in some of their cooking; the Japanese use oil.

The constituents of the two chop sueys seem to be much the same, but there is a distinct difference in taste. Which is the better is hard indeed to say. There are chop suey connoisseurs who say neither, and that can be considered a thoroughly Oriental compound, but a little of everything which might appeal to the Occidental appetite. The sight of the gaudily-colored bowl, however, in which the Japanese chop suey is served may be regarded as worth twice the money paid for the food. Rice is served in another artistic bowl.

Queer Sort of Fish.
Nestling on one side of the tray may be found a shallow dish in which is what looks like a combination of a slice of Edam cheese and a bit of Neapolitan ice cream brick tenderly laid on a strip of lettuce.

FOOD FACTS.

What an M. D. Learned.

A prominent physician down in Georgia, went through a food experience which he makes public:

"It was my own experience that first led me to advocate Grape-Nuts food and I also know from having prescribed it to convalescents and other weak patients that the food is a wonderful rebuilder and restorer of nerve and brain tissue, as well as muscle. It improves the digestion and sick patients always gain just as I did in strength and weight, very rapidly.

"I was in such a low state that I had to give up my work entirely and go to the mountains of this state, but two months there did not improve me; in fact I was not quite as well as when I left home. My food did not sustain me and it became plain that I must change, then I began to use Grape-Nuts and in two weeks I could walk a mile without the least fatigue and in five weeks returned to my home and practice, taking up hard work again. Since that time I have felt as well and strong as I ever did in my life.

"As a physician who seeks to help all sufferers I consider it a duty to make these facts public."

Trial 10 days on Grape-Nuts when the regular food does not seem to sustain the body will work miracles.

CAN YOU CARRY BABE?

Mother's who find it difficult to carry the children because of backache, and those who suffer any weakness of the kidneys or bladder, such as too frequent urination, inability to sleep soundly, as well as persons suffering from Rheumatism, will find quick relief in a few doses of the new Barkola Globes treatment which, although, on the market but a short time, is already outselling any similar preparation. Druggists say it is giving splendid satisfaction, and the first few doses generally give much relief. "We have enough confidence in it to guarantee results or refund the money. So any person who cares to try it can do so without any risk whatever." This is the offer made by Gilbert's Drug Store.

while a quarter section of lemon keeps guard over it. The segment is very white and brilliantly streaked with crimson around the edges. It is not until the customer has tasted it that he occurs to him that he is eating fish. The slice is taken from a piscine timbale, and when it is being absorbed into the system the thought comes that it is as good as it is queer.

The luncheon includes all the tea which anyone could possibly desire, for there is, besides the large bowl filled with tea leaves, a large pot of hot water.

As a dessert there is a pile of rice cakes. These are made from a mixture of rice flour, choice Minneapolis; eggs, cream and sugar. Mix these ingredients together carefully and the result, in American hands, will not be anything like Japanese rice cakes, but that is what they are made of. It is not safe to press a Japanese further with regard to the composition of this subtle concoction.

The luncheon is only a small feature of the bill of fare of a Japanese restaurant, but so far it has proved the most alluring to the woman shopper who does not care to venture too far into unknown fields in the matter of foreign cookery.

One of the most easily assimilated of the Japanese dishes is chicken à la Tokio, which is elegant of all that is good in Nippon. The Japanese are exceedingly fond of fish and insist upon having it fresh; therefore one cannot go wrong in ordering shiwayaki, teriyaki or kimpura, which are the equivalents respectively of fish baked, broiled or fried.

Chicken Compound.

What lamb is to the Greeks of Sixth avenue; whom none need fear when they hear it is chicken to the Japanese. Therefore, let the stranger beneath the wistaria not hesitate when Tori Tsukuneyaki is brought forward, for it is a chicken compound which has a soul and it spires man to better things. What is better than Tori Tsukuneyaki eaten amid the fragrance of the garden or looking toward that print of the mount of snows which hangs upon the wall? Tori limani, something like a savory stew of chicken with vegetables is in the V. H. C. class, and there is a pleasing savor in Okyo Donburi, composed of rice, chicken and eggs. Japanese noodles, which are light as air, may be had with the chicken, or with duck. If one desires a table d'hôte he may find a combination of many of these things, with plenty of cakes and fruit and tea.

One of the excellencies of a Japanese restaurant even as transplanted to American soil, is the simplicity and artistic quality of the decorations. The furnishings are made by Japanese carpenters and the screens and the cabinet work and the trays and tables are fashioned on the same graceful and pleasing lines.

Flowers are plentifully used in the decorations. The Japanese regard the leaves and the branch as an adornment as much as the blossom itself, and those who are familiar with the effects may achieve both in plant decoration and in their pictorial art will not gainsay this statement. A Japanese with a branch of mountain laurel or some such simple flower can make a decoration which will be a delight to the eye.

The Japanese restaurant, with its atmosphere of the land of the wistaria and the cherry blossom, has found its place in this cosmopolitan city.

Studying the Law.

In the old days when oral examinations were still the thing, an examining board was pummeling an applicant with questions from Blackstone, Kent and other famous legal lights.

"I didn't study anything about those fellows," complained the applicant.

"What did you study?" asked one of the judges.

"I studied the statutes of the state," he replied. "I studied them hard. Ask me a question about them and I'll show you. That is where I got all my legal knowledge."

"My young friend," said one austere judge on the examining board, "you had better be very careful, for some day the legislature might meet and repeal everything you know."—Kansas City Journal.

THE DEMOCRATS OF WISCONSIN

STATE CONVENTION OPENED IN MILWAUKEE.

Strong Talk by Reilly; Temporary Chairman Declares Principles of Party Stolen by Republicans.

THE TARIFF LAW IS RIDDLED

Milwaukee, July 14.—The Democratic state convention opened at noon with an address by Michael K. Reilly, of Fon du Lac, temporary chairman. William Wolfe, of La Crosse, was permanent chairman. In his address Wolfe said he could never understand why Wisconsin people should have voted to maintain a protective tariff. He declared that the lumber schedule had simply made a number of millionaires.

Mr. Reilly's Speech.

Mr. Reilly said in part:

"While it will be most readily admitted that the Democratic party has been most signal success in securing of spoils of office for its followers it cannot be denied that the party of Jefferson and Jackson has been most triumphantly successful after almost a quarter of a century of warfare, in securing the adoption of its principles, and the ratification of its economic theories, by its conquering political opponents and at the last national election, although defeated in the nation, the Democratic party achieved important victories in six of the northern states and today, six Democratic governors are serving the people in the former strongholds of Republicanism.

"And Democratic ideas and Democratic theories once denounced by our political opponents are now claimed as their own.

"While the Democratic party has continually suffered defeat and her champions, many of them brilliant, patriotic men, who have embellished the history of the country have fallen fighting gloriously under her flag, the principles for which the party has stood still live and will continue to live, for they are as eternal as justice itself.

"Upon the right of the government to levy tribute upon one class for the benefit of another, the Democratic party takes decisive issue with the Republican party.

"The taxing power of the government is being employed today and has been employed for the last 30 years or more through laws enacted by the Republican party for the benefit of a favored few."

"Through its tariff legislation, the Republican party has enabled certain producers to eliminate competition, to form gigantic monopolies, to control markets, to arbitrarily fix prices in defiance of the law of supply and demand, so as to compel every fire side, every shop, every factory and every profession to pay tribute to the favored few.

"We have reached such a stage in our industrial and commercial developments as a result of special privilege, that the question no longer is 'will the government be able to control the corporation' but instead we have 'will the corporations be able to own and control the government?'

"Seeing political destruction ahead, a supreme effort is being made to make country believe the retirement of Aldrich and Hale and the removal of Cannon from the Republican party to become the servant of the people. Why condemn Cannon? Why condemn Aldrich? What about the 180 congressmen who aided Mr. Cannon in his efforts to the interest? What about the Republican majority in the United States that back up Aldrich in the effort to tax privileges and what about Mr. Taft elected upon a platform pledged to a reduction of the tariff when he declared that the tariff bill now condemned and denounced universally as a fraud on the people was the best tariff bill ever framed by any party in this country.

"This is a remarkable day and age. Remarkable for many things and most remarkable of all for the kinds and varieties of Republicans that we have.

"Our platform should be progressive and not reactionary. There is a great contest going on in our land today between the forces of reaction and the forces of progress and our creed should unmistakably place our party with forces of progress.

"While the various elements of the Republican party are at meetings to read each other out of the party let it be our aim to keep our doorsteps swept clean and to welcome into the home of our party our forces of progress.

"While the various elements of the Republican party are at meetings to read each other out of the party let it be our aim to keep our doorsteps swept clean and to welcome into the home of our party our forces of progress.

"I studied the statutes of the state," he replied. "I studied them hard. Ask me a question about them and I'll show you. That is where I got all my legal knowledge."

"My young friend," said one austere judge on the examining board, "you had better be very careful, for some day the legislature might meet and repeal everything you know."—Kansas City Journal.

Why Have an Overheated Kitchen in Summer?

When the sultry days come and the coal range makes the kitchen almost unbearable and cooking a dreaded task, put out the range fire and try the newest method of cooking in hot weather—use a

New Perfection
WICK BLUE FLAME
Oil Cook-stove

What a contrast! The kitchen no longer is stifling hot, the work is now done with comfort, and the housewife is not worn out with the heat.

She saves her strength, keeps her health and is better able to enjoy the summer.

The New Perfection does everything that any other stove can do—all the family cooking, baking, washing and ironing. No smoke, no dust, no odor. Heat is applied directly and not wasted. A turn, and the flame is out.

The New Perfection stove has a Cabinet Top with shelf for keeping plates and food hot, drop shelves for the coffee pot or saucers, and nickelized towel racks.

It has long turquoise-blue enamel chimneys. The nickel finish, with the bright blue of the chimneys, makes the stove very attractive and invites cleanliness. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners;

Ready-to-Wear Department Second Floor---Take Elevator

Our Ladies' Ready-to-Wear Department has become one of the most important factors of our business and, therefore, warrants a great deal of our attention. We make a special effort to keep abreast with the foremost eastern styles and during the season receive weekly shipments of all that is new, as they appear in the east, and by so doing place before our customers styles as advanced and well selected as you would be able to obtain in any of the larger cities. Not wishing to carry any of these goods over for another season, we now offer you an unrestricted choice of any of these handsome garments at but a fraction of their original cost.
